

Turkish Archives of Otorhinolaryngology

Türk Otorinolarengoloji Arşivi

Dernek Başkanından / From the Society President

Dear Colleagues,

As the first otorhinolaryngology journal of our field of study, Turkish Archives of Otorhinolaryngology has been published since 1962 and also, as you know, it has been Turkish Otorhinolaryngology Head and Neck Surgery Society's official scientific publishing agency for the last three years. I firmly believe that our journal will renew itself every day and carry itself to international level in the scientific arena. I would like to emphasise that, as Turkish Otorhinolaryngology Head and Neck Surgery Society, we will provide all of our support to reach this aim. In the first 2015 issue of our Journal, I think that you will read The Foundation Story of Turkish Archives of Otorhinolaryngology written by Prof. Dr. Yücel Tanyeri with great interest.

Indexed by TUBITAK ULAKBIM TR Index, our journal's most urgent goal is international indexes. Having our journal indexed by international databases, will help us better promote Turkey, which is already in a really good position in the otorhinolaryngology field, in the international arena. It will also help young colleagues's publication activities which helps them with their academic advances. The responsibility of reaching our goal faster falls to all of us. With this purpose, besides submitting original articles to Turkish Archives of Otorhinolaryngology, citing our journal in your national and international publications as much as possible within the ethical frame will contribute a lot.

Today, with faculties of medicine and training hospitals, specialized institution numbers surpass 150 in our country. Receiving at least 1 original article from each institution every year will hugely contribute to Turkish Archives of Otorhinolaryngology. As Turkish Otorhinolaryngology Head and Neck Surgery Society, we are currently working on introducing incentives for young colleagues to submit their manuscripts to our journal.

With your support, I hope that Turkish Archives of Otorhinolaryngology will evolve and I would like to wish success to our newly appointed editorial board.

Prof. Dr. Metin Önerci
